

PV Baseball All Stars

Coach Code of Conduct

Mission Statement

Our mission is to have highly competitive teams comprised of participants from the Prairie Village recreational leagues. These teams will have a strong emphasis on sportsmanship, commitment, respect, teamwork, knowledge of the game and community involvement. This cannot be accomplished without the dedication of our players, coaches, parents and volunteers.

Core Principles

PV Baseball All Stars participation must be healthy, positive and safe for everyone involved. Team activities must be conducted in an environment that values good sportsmanship while representing Prairie Village as a first-class organization.

The coach is the key to making the PV Baseball All Stars experience positive, educational and fun. They foster a positive athletic experience for all participants including players, parents, umpires, officials, the opposing team and all fans. This Code of Conduct defines the expectations for coaches.

Core Practices

- The coach provides inspiration and positive communication and assists players to make good decisions.
- The coach is a role model at all times, recognizing his/her profound influence on players. They must exhibit respect for the umpires, officials and other coaches.
- A coach is sensitive to the fact that different approaches will be needed for different individuals according to their needs, backgrounds and skill levels.
- Coaches are educators, first and foremost. They must strive to learn new and different approaches and engage the players in the learning process. The learning goes beyond techniques and strategies to include teaching sportsmanship and effective communication with parents.
- Coaches recognize the need for balance in the lives of players, a balance that respects the needs of the family, church and school.
- Coaches teach the value of competition and how to handle success with grace and defeat with dignity.
- Coaches should demand a drug, alcohol and tobacco-free sports environment for their teams.

Out of Bounds

- Coaches who fail to acknowledge participation in Prairie Village's recreational league(s) as a priority.
- Coaches who highlight the elite athlete and fail to provide a broad range of opportunities for all team participants.
- Coaches who fail to understand that first and foremost they are teachers, including by example.
- Coaches who communicate through the intimidation or berating of players.
- Coaches with a "win at all costs" philosophy.
- Coaches who use profanity or discriminating speech at any time.
- Coaches who are unfair in their promotion of players.
- Coaches who promote specialization by their athletes at an inappropriate age or level.
- Coaches who lack self-control and display poor sportsmanship.
- Coaches who argue with umpires, officials, other coaches or parents.
- Coaches who single out a few players, resulting in limited playing time.
- Coaches who fail to respect individual differences and diversity.

Money Matters and Fundraising
